Harley & Marley puts a pep in your pet's step

Harley & Marley recently launched their Duo Function Health Chews and Super Bites. According to the new Irish pet food company, these 'multi-tasking' dog treats are '100% natural and nutritionally balanced.' Harley & Marley produces fish-based premium dog food and treats. Among the range are special formulations for joint health, cognitive health, gut health, healthy coats, and for calming, as well as softer chews and bites recipes, tailored for puppies. Cognitive Health Chews and Super Bites provide nutrients to support brain function, eyesight, and overall health. They come in a carrot and seaweed recipe, with vitamin B6 and kale that help brain function. This new treat range also includes white fish and green-lipped mussel with glucosamine and spirulina, to support joint health.

The Gut Health Chews and Super Bites recipe from Harley & Marley contains banana, blueberry, chicory inulin, flaxseeds and green algae fibre, to help support the growth of beneficial bacteria. The Calming Chews and Super Bites contain white fish and hemp, with passion flower, to reduce anxiety and promote calmer behaviour. Chews and Super Bites to promote Coat Health contain Omega-3 fatty acids from the salmon-based recipe, helping to maintain a healthy skin barrier, reduce inflammation, and promote moisture retention, resulting in a shiny and well-hydrated coat.

Puppy Chews and Super Bites contain only three calories each and are specifically designed for young dogs. They include flavours of salmon, pumpkin and flaxseed, with the high-quality protein supporting muscle growth and repair, joint health, clear skin and a glossy coat, while the dietary fibre helps digestion and regular bowel movements. Aside from the functional health benefits, Harley & Marley Duo Function Health Chews and Super Bites also support healthy teeth and gums, as well as fresh breath, with added mint in each recipe.

Pure Killybegs Fish Oil for dogs and cats is also new on the Harley & Marley healthy eating menu this summer. Available in two bottle sizes and produced exclusively from Atlantic salmon oil with wild Irish mackerel and blue whiting, the 100% natural Irish fish oil is a ready source of Omega 3, 6 and 9.

Harley & Marley creator, Portia Quinn, says that having established the positive impacts of pet food produced from fish, the brand ambition for the Irish-made range is to be a global leader in marine-based food for pets, and an advocate for reducing surplus seafood waste. Stockists of the new healthy Irish pet food range are listed on the Harley & Marley website and include speciality pet stores and selected Dunnes Stores, Super Valu, Lonsis and Centra supermarkets.
