

OUT AND ABOUT

Lorraine Ryan Kelly

STYLE ON SHOW

Dublin's prolific Horse Show took place again in the RDS and the style was more incredible than ever before. Lorraine Ryan Kelly from Galway was crowned Best Dressed, in a hat by Caithriona King, a bronze lace blouse by Julie Caulfield, black trousers by No Name Style and her mother's handbag.

Orla McAndrew

FOR THE FOODIES

With fantastic local produce and seriously talented chefs, it's no surprise that the Cork on a Fork festival was such a huge success again this year. The likes of chef Orla McAndrew and many others were on site giving cooking demos across the week not to mention endless tasting trails.

A DAY OUT FOR A GREAT CAUSE

The All-Ireland Polo Club hosted a thrilling charity polo match at The Phoenix Park with some of Ireland's top jockeys and trainers taking to the field in support of The Down Syndrome Centre. With award-winning cuisine provided by Tankardstown House, tables beautifully decorated by The Designed Table, and Curraghmore Whiskey for the guests to sample, the day was a delightful celebration of community and purpose.

KNITWEAR NEWNESS

IrelandsEye Knitwear launched its 'Haven' collection giving style-savvy guests a sneak preview of its latest knitwear selection: from knit jumpers, to midi skirts, to a full knit jumpsuit! Perfect for this time of year and created here in Ireland.

WONDERFUL WEAVERS

The Fern House Restaurant in Kilmacanogue, Co Wicklow was host to the launch of Avoca's Autumn Winter Fashion Collection. While its A/W collection was the focus of the morning, Avoca wanted to honour its 300-year history of its mill by inviting 3rd generation weaver Martin Kenny to showcase the intricate process of weaving on the handloom and the rich history behind it.
